

My name is Ogata Kanna. I am a demon whose age is around a third-year student in middle school.

I'll introduce my beloved family first, then my crazy comrades!

My father is Ogata Isamu. He was killed by a demon who had tricked him by taking the form of his beloved wife.

Next is my mom, Ogata Sayuri. She was secretly killed one day, then for several years, she was being impersonated.

Then my beloved brother, Ogata Shu! He contracted with a demon and sacrificed his memories while working hard to fight demons to find out the truth behind our parents' deaths.

Lastly, we have my real mom, Asmodeus! She is the demon who killed Sayuri and impersonated her. She deceived my dad and gave birth to me in an attempt to create a gate between the demon world and the human world! ... It's heavy! My upbringing is too heavy! But everything is fine now that my brother is with me. You only live once, therefore I want to live my life to the fullest. Well, some say that since I am a demon, I can't die.

"Hey"

"Hey!"

"Hey! I know you can hear me, idiotic government official!"

"Shut up! You demon!"

Anyway, I'm Kanna Ogata, the tragic heroine of this fleeting story, and my situation is as terrible as ever. After all, where do you think this is? It's deep underground in the Bayron City Hall. It's a secret prison that even the people in the city don't know about!

All the walls around me are covered with a thick steel like a vault, so not even sunlight can get in.

"Oh, come on, that's a horrible way to put it! Being called a demon just for causing a little destruction in the city."

"Do you realize that the phrase 'causing a little destruction in the city' is already more than a little..."

And to make matters worse, the big shots in the city not only locked me up in a place where I couldn't escape, but also chained my hands and stuck a sword in my chest to completely immobilize me.

Take a look at my current situation. What do you think of it?" I asked, and without exception, all ten people said, "It's incredibly...unjust." (TN: Kanna is narrating her story and this is the part where she talks to her audience)

"Well, never mind. So what do you want to say? The food here is more than enough in terms of quality and quantity..."

"That's it! When I'm here, all I do is eat and sleep! If I don't exercise occasionally, I'll become a D-ranked demon!"

"If that's the case, you just need to reduce the amount of food you eat, right?"

"That's not right for a growing middle schooler, is it? It's the responsibility of adults to encourage children to eat well, exercise well, and cultivate healthy bodies and minds for the future."

"But it seems like your mind has already been destroyed..."

See? It's still unjust no matter what I say, and they won't listen to me.

I can't believe they treat me, a middle schooler, so badly. Bayron City has no respect for human rights.

"Hey, mister."

"What is it?"

"I'm going out for a bit. Can you open the door for me?"

"Emergency! Emergency! Prisoner No. 00 is showing signs of escape! Requesting the deployment of suppression forces! Repeat: Prisoner No. 00 is showing signs of escape!"

Suddenly, there was a commotion outside the door. The red light was flashing, a loud siren was blaring, and many footsteps were shaking the ground like an earthquake. I knew what this was - the oppression of adults, trying to crush the curiosity and adventurous spirit of young people and manipulate them for their own convenience. Adults never understand us.

"Oh well, I'll just open it myself."

I refuse to submit to that kind of pressure. Rebelliousness without reason is the privilege of young people.

"Don't do it! Stop it! Hey, where's the backup? We have no time left!"

With all my strength, I broke the chains on my hands and pulled out the sword piercing my chest. It's easy when you're motivated.

"Let's go!"

"Everyone evacuate! We're going to get caught up!"

Because we young people have a shining future...

As I looked down onto Bayron City while flying hundreds of meters in the air, several tall buildings blocked my view one after another. I wanted to bring down these annoying buildings one by one for obstructing my view, but I endured it and flew through the gaps in the buildings, staring at the scenery below.

"Which one was my brother's room again..."

I'm looking for just one thing. A three-story, small and dilapidated apartment building. My most beloved family is waiting for me. As I said earlier, I have an older brother who is a few years older than me. In fact, my family only consists of my older brother (my real mother is alive, but she disappeared into the demon world, so she doesn't count!).

My brother loves me from the bottom of his heart even though I am half demon and half human. He's the man who sacrificed everything to get me back when I had been taken away by a demon and he sold his memories to the devil to get me back. That's why my dream is for us to live together, being by his side all the time and living a modest life.

The world is very tough on us, with the shitty government imprisoning me and vulgar women seducing my brother. Still, we can overcome as long as we try hard enough. Nothing is stronger than family ties.

[illegible]

" Kanna! Stop!"

"Over here!"

Suddenly, an exotic figure stood in front of me.

There was one other person standing in front of me in the air.

"Isn't this your 36th time you have escape in two days? Enough already! Don't you realize that it's a bother to Shu-kun too?"

"You're so annoying, you vulgar woman..."

The figure standing in front of me in mid-air, several hundred meters above ground, was a girl with one wing and one horn, just like me. She is Kisara, a delusional yandere girl who claims to be my older brother's lover.

"Come on Kanna, let's go back to the city hall quietly and apologize to the police..."

"No way. It's boring over there."

Well, you have no choice. You did something wrong and got caught."

"That's not true! I'm still a minor, you know? They shouldn't treat me so badly like that! It's a government conspiracy!"

"Well, the government is full of conspiracies, but I think they're right about your treatment..."

"Ugh, Kisara is siding with the government too..."

"Do you know what those people call you, Kanna? Bayron's nightmare, Bayron's nightmare!"

"You're so annoying, you traitor! Government lapdog! Demon public servant!"

"I'll gladly wag my tail for a job with a steady income!"

Yeah, I just can't get along with this girl. It's not only because she claims to be my older brother's girlfriend without permission. But more importantly, her way of thinking is fundamentally different from mine, even though we're both demons.

Despite being a demon, she always takes the side of humans. Even though she had been persecuted and turned against by humans many times before, she continues to fight to protect humans from demon disasters. She always says it's because of her contract with Shu-kun, but the truth is different. Her love is just too heavy. Not just for my older brother, but for humans as well. I wonder how she was born and raised...

"Hey, Kanna Stop resisting and go back quietly, okay?" (Shu)

"Kisara, what are you waiting for? Hurry up and restrain Kanna!" (Ayano)

While lost in thought, I heard a voice amplified by a speaker behind me, accompanied by the sound of wind.

When I turned around, there was a helicopter hovering in the gap between buildings. And the owner of the voice is gazing lovingly at me from the pilot seat.

"Big brother!"

"Shuu-kun!" (Kisara)

"I'm here too!" (Ayano)

The only family I have left. The coolest big brother in the world who would sell his soul to the devil to save his little sister! Shu Ogata!

"Listen, big brother! What's up with those government officials?"

"Okay, okay, I'll listen to you. If you're not happy with the way you're being treated, I'll tell the government. "

I had always wanted to meet the person I had pictured in my mind, and now that he was right in front of me, my feelings were overflowing.

"It's my big brother! I'm going to go..."

"Shu, you can't keep spoiling Kanna like this forever, you know?"

"...huh?"

Finally, I noticed the blue-haired girl sitting next to him in the co-pilot's seat.

"Well, Ayano, let's put that discussion aside for now and calm Kanna down first..."

"That may be so, but if we send her back without scolding her properly, she'll just start a rampage and run away again, won't she? We need to make her understand once and for all..."

"...Hey, wait, are you talking about me? Why are you interrupting my conversation with my big brother you vulgar girl number two?"

"What do you mean, number two?!"

"I'm not concerned with the vulgar woman over there..."

The older woman, a hyena who has been in and out of our home since she was a child. She has been persistently targeting my brother, who is three years younger than her, for more than ten years, whenever she gets a chance.

Her name is Ayano Yugiri, and she is a delusional co-dependent woman who calls herself my brother's ex-girlfriend.

"That's enough, Kanna. Your selfish behavior is causing Shu so much trouble..."

"No, Ayano is the one who's causing trouble for my brother. Even though you have been rejected long ago, you are still persistent and staying next to him..."

"Ah, I really think so too from the bottom of my heart."

"Whose side are you on, Kisara?!"

"So, everyone, let's not escalate things like this, let's cool down first..."

"By the way, both Kisara and Ayano are not suitable for my brother. Kisara is a demon, and Ayano is old..."

"If Shu-kun's little sister is a demon, then it's okay for his wife to be a demon too!"

"I'll tell you, Kisara is hundreds of years older than Shu, you know? The age difference between Shu and me is just a cute thing!"

"I've been sealed away for a long time! And don't just suddenly say things like that, Ayano!"

"See, in the end, neither of you can refute what I said! I win!"

"T-That's not true! Because, you know, Shu and I...um...uh...that's right! Shu and I have really great physical compatibility!"

"Ayano!!" 'Ayaanooo!!' 'Aaaah! That's something you absolutely can't say in front of the family!"

Yeah, I still can't get along with these women...

"Hey, big brother, the meat is ready! Here, open wide..."

"Uh, yeah, thanks, Kanna..." She dipped the cooked meat that Kisara had cooked in the Ogata family's special sauce and brought it to her brother's mouth.

"How is it? There's still plenty left, so eat lots, okay?"

"Y-yeah, sure..."

"...I can't believe you're so relaxed, cooking meat in a situation like this....just a moment ago, we were about to burn down the city..."

"Hey, Kisara, I want to upload this photo of me with my big brother to Instagram. Can you teach me how to do it?"

"Huh? Are you planning on making it public? You should make a private account for that...."

"Hey, wait a minute! The wreckage of the helicopter is in the background! If we post this, it'll be a disaster!"

"Then we'll just bill I&S for the helicopter. Right, Shu?"

"Wait a minute, President! That's several years of my salary!"

Beside the barbecue grill were my big brother, Ayano, Aunt Akino, Kisara and me. Around us, there were people in uniforms surrounding us with guns and shields, but for now, I'll pretend I didn't see them until the party is over.

"Hey, Kanna, after you eat, hurry up and go back to the city hall. Those police officers won't be able to move until you leave."

"Ugh, Ayano, you're as annoying as ever. You always get jealous when Shu is taking care of me and try to interfere."

"Oh, I know that feeling. It's frustrating when a woman hasn't moved on at all even after ten years. Oh, sorry, she has moved on in age at least."

"It's better than being a demon who doesn't age even after hundreds of years."

"Hey, Aunt Akino, tell Ayano to give up on my big brother and find a new man."

"Well, but you know, when it gets this bad, even if the parents say something, their child won't listen."

"I am not about to give up!"

"I'm sorry, but could you please stop having such a candid conversation in front of the other party involved?"

Just a while ago, everyone had fought me in a vicious battle, but now we are eating meat and drinking beer together while talking.

They may be adults, but they're different from the other adults in the city. The swords they wield and the bullets they fire are not driven by fear and hatred, but by something akin to love...

"Here, have some cola. You drink it, right?"

"Mm."

While I was occupied with my train of thoughts, I was approached by Kisara who offered me a paper cup. In front of us was Ayano who had already gone through a case of beer and is relentlessly pestering my brother while half-crying. She is still as oblivious as ever, even with the police surrounding us. Non-alcoholic drinkers are left behind in times like these...

"Usually, you'd be slashing at Ayano by now."

"Well, I have to indulge you once in a while."

"Trying to appease your lover's sister?" The self-proclaimed wife is so cunning.

"Yeah, I guess we're all too soft on you, including me."

"...I meant that as sarcasm."

"Regardless of what you think, everyone is too soft on Kanna. That's a fact."

Turning my gaze to the side, I see my only family member wearing a poignant, lonely, yet happy and enjoyable smile.

"Everyone fought so hard to get you back..."

"...Didn't you lose your memories about that?"

"Yeah, I don't remember directly. This is what I heard from Shu-kun, Ayano, and Akino."

"Do you believe that? They may have been telling you lies in order to use you for their own gain in the future."

"I have no doubts after seeing the way Shu-kun looked at me so tenderly."

"Kisara..."

"Finally, Shuu-kun has a clear number one... but that's because of all my hard work, so I can be proud of it." Kisara said with a proud expression, similar to the one I always see on my brother's face.

"Well, even if you praise yourself like that, it's not like I can easily approve of your relationship with my brother, you know?"

"....Just go back already!"

I am Kanna Ogata, a demon who is around the age of a third year middle school student.

Let me introduce you to my new family.

First, my only blood relative, my brother. He sold his memories to the devil to help me, but now he has regained not only me but also everyone's smiles, and he is the guardian angel of Bayron City, Shu Ogata.

Next, the older sister in the neighbourhood. She has always loved my brother since we were children and is an annoying woman who never gives up. But she still cares about me in her own way, and when it comes to serious matters, she is a reliable woman, Ayano Yugiri.

Then there's Ayano's mother, who has taken care of me since I was born, loved me, and protected me from the government even after knowing that I am a demon. She is a strong and kind superwoman, Akino Yugiri.

Finally, there's a demon like me who lends her power to my brother, but in exchange, she takes away his memories and pushes him to hell. She is the worst woman, but she is the only one who can protect this city, my brother's life, and his happiness. She is the ultimate weapon of Bayron City, Kisara.

The faces have changed quite a bit, but the number of people hasn't.

There are many things I don't like about them, but there are also many things I do like.

So, I will continue to live with these people from now on. I will enjoy myself as much as possible to regain the lost twelve years.

(The End)

